- vermouth • 2 oz pour served over ice block

vermouth is an aromatized wine fortified with neutral spirits that is macerated with a selection of herbs, fruits and roots. the word "vermouth" comes from the german word for "wormwood", which was originally one of its primary infused ingredients.

- gonzalez byass 'la copa' extra seco blanco • 17% abv • jerez, spain • 8 clean, elegant and intense. citrus aromas, bitter touches of wormwood and savoury.
- atxa vermouth rojo • 15% abv • basque country, spain • 8 licorice and wild herbs framed by bitter components and a markedly wild berry fruit, cherry
- gonzalez byass 'la copa' rojo • 15.5% abv • jerez, spain • 8 intense spiced aroma. notes of clove and cinnamon stand out, with an excellent bitterness on the finish. smooth and elegant.
- yzaguirre rojo 'reserva' • 18% abv • reus, catalonia, spain • 8 intense aroma, herby and spicy notes. long, intense and slightly bitter aftertaste with balsamic, orange and cinnamon notes. aged for 12 months in 5,000-liter barrels
- punt e mes rosso • 16% abv • italy • 8 developed in 1870 in antonino carpano's bar in piedmont the name translates to "point and a half" and, so the story goes, it's one part vermouth and half a part intensely herbal-bitter quina liqueur. aromas reminiscent of herbs, with hints of quina, toffee and cloves. soft, pleasantly bitter, slightly sweet, marked by captivating accents of orange zest

- spanish sherry • 2 oz pour served neat

fino and manzanilla

these are the freshest, lightest styles of sherry. these age for as few as two or as many as ten years under a layer of flor (yeast film). they are delicious with olives, marcona almonds, anything from the sea, cured things, fried things, spicy things and cured meats. with oysters, both of these sherries vie with champagne as the greatest pairing on earth.

- lustau fino 'jarana' • very dry • jerez, spain • 6 taste profile • delicate, light and dry, with pecan, brazil nut aromas, nice acidity, citrus notes on finish
- lustau manzanilla 'papurusa' • very dry • jerez, spain • 6 taste profile • bone dry, yeasty, lemony, nutty aromas and a characteristic whiff of the salty atlantic

- spanish sherry • (cont.) 2 oz pour served neat

- amontillado

*when a fino's layer of flor fades or the wine is intentionally fortified to a high strength, it begins to oxidize and change character. this is an amontillado sherry or, simply put, an aged fino. these wines have some of the salty bite of a fino but with a darker color and a nuttier, richer finish on the palate.
pair with almonds, iberico ham, sautéed mushrooms, smoked fish, manchego, aged cheddar*

- lustau almacenista 'obregon' amontillado del puerto • dry • jerez, spain • 8 taste profile • big, creamy, almonds, vanilla, toffee, salt, almonds and a light bittersweet edge.

- palo cortado

a less common style of sherry that occurs when flor yeast dies unexpectedly and the wine begins to take on oxygen. a salty character, with a richer body and more intensity. it can behave like an amontillado on the palate but often shows a great balance of richness and delicacy. pair with indian curry, smoked fish, cured cheeses, nuts, oily fish, patés, especially game, smoked duck, asparagus and mushrooms

- lustau palo cortado 'peninsula' sherry • medium dry • jerez, spain • 7 taste profile • warm baking spices, bready aroma, refreshing, clean finish food pairing • indian curry, smoked fish, cured cheeses, nuts, oily fish, asparagus and mushrooms

- oloroso

complex brown-colored sherries, olorosos develop in barrel without the protective flor layer, often for many years. the result is a complex, rich, dry, nutty style of sherry with aromas of wood and raisins. grilled red tuna steak, nuts, blue or strong-flavored cheeses, brie, duck, pork, wild game, red meats, cured meats, smoked bacon, foie gras, bitter chocolate.

- lustau oloroso 'don nuño' sherry • dry • jerez, spain • 7 taste profile • salted caramel, dates, green tea, blood orange. full-body, clean finish, well-balanced acidity these are not cheesy 70's and 80's fruit juicy, overly sweet cocktails. these are the real McCoy's! with the addition of a few modern tweaks and twists, these are the original, no longer secret recipes from the 1930's thru the 1960's direct from don the beachcomber's and trader vic's restaurant drink menus. the exotic tastes of over a dozen rums from around the world, the perfect balance of sweet and citrusy sour along with the complex, underlying flavors of vanilla, ginger, honey, almond, cinnamon, clove and allspice makes one understand why this was truly one of the most remarkable eras in cocktail history.
